

Friendship across the ages

A workshop bringing young and young-at-heart together

What do you think of the other generation? Are you a young person who wants to show older people that young people can be considerate and friendly? Or an older person that wants to show younger people that you like to have fun. Whatever you think, this morning workshop is sure to bring people who may have never otherwise have spoken to each other together, and may even change the way you think of yourself and others.

...And if you really enjoy yourself, stay a bit longer, lunch is on us!
