Resource Efficient Scotland

This scheme is a Scottish Government funded programme delivered by Zero Waste Scotland. It works to engage Scottish business, the public sector including local authorities and housing associations and third sector organisations on the benefits of using resources more efficiently and to help them implement resource efficiency actions within their organisation.

There are three main elements to the programme:

1. Advice and support service:

(Tel: 0808 808 2268) this service provides free advice, support, training and access to funding to help organisations implement resource efficiency measures.

2. Sector Programmes:

These programmes provide a strategic sector focused approach with activities tailored around specific resource-use 'hotspots'

3. Innovation:

This area of work involves the development of new resource efficient products and technologies, business models, working practices and de-centralised renewable energy infrastructure – providing solutions for the sector support and advice services. Support for local authorities is provided through one of the sector programmes.

NEW FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

ARTS, CULTURE & HERITAGE

The Arts Trust of Scotland

This scheme is an independent Scottish Charitable trust (charity number: SC024970) that awards grants to artists which help it to meet its aim. It aims to support:

- Artists of considerable talent to develop their skill, ideas and potential.
- The development of emerging artists who live and work in Scotland.

The Trust's objective is to help working artists in Scotland fulfil their potential, realise their visions and enable those who value the contribution of Scotland's arts, artists and creativity to national life, to contribute to their continued development. It subsequently aims to support work which:

- Is created by artists in Scotland.
- Adds to the growing reputation of Scotland's arts community.
- Helps individuals of talent to develop their skills and ideas.

The Trust therefore hopes to offer an opportunity for those who derive pleasure from the arts to recognise, in a tangible way, the enormous success of Scottish artists and arts organisations and provide for their future. The Trust typically allocates around £40,000 funding per year, with funding decisions taken at Trustee meetings, held twice a year. Awards are likely to be between £500 and £2,000, with a maximum of roughly 10 successful applicants awarded grants in each round.

In addition to applications for general funding, the Trust also wishes to support Scottish artists wanting to work in an international context. One of its interests is, therefore, to offer annual international travel bursaries, which will have a separate application process in the future.

The deadline for receipt of applications is 12 noon on Thursday 13 February 2014.

EDUCATION

Scotch Whisky Action Fund

This scheme, established by the Scotch Whisky Association, will distribute £100K per annum over the next 5 years. The fund aims to invest in groups and organisations that wish to reduce the impact of alcohol-related harm in Scotland's communities. They are looking to support and develop a range of projects/initiatives which deliver targeted interventions designed to tackle alcohol-related harms across three themes:

- Young people (aged under 18);
- Families
- Communities

The fund recognises that the misuse of alcohol through excessive or inappropriate consumption can have implications for health and a range of social problems, including anti-social behaviour, accidents, violence, family break-down, problems with money and work, which can impact on individuals, families and communities.

The Fund would particularly welcome applications from new/innovative or pilot initiatives which aim to test new approaches within these themes and which will offer learning that others can use. Applications from existing projects which can demonstrate success in reducing harm are also welcome.

There are two levels of award:

1. Up to £10,000

Awards made under this category could fund new initiatives and test out innovative approaches designed to reduce alcohol-related harm. Awards could also be used to fund existing smaller scale projects that are seeking to expand or develop their services. Applications for innovative/pilot projects will be capped at a maximum grant award of £10,000 but will have the opportunity to apply for further funding if you can evidence that you have achieved the outcomes set for the pilot phase of your project.

2. £10,000 - £25,000

Awards made under this category could fund projects that are seeking to consolidate and build on emerging, successful practice in relation to the reduction of alcohol-related harm.

Awards made under this category will need to be able to provide evidence that the project is needed and that the approach taken has proven to be effective. Note that statutory bodies are able to apply to this programme as are large national charitable organisations as there is no limit set on the amount of annual income that an organisation has. Organisations can seek funding to run:

- Preventative projects that aim to reduce the alcohol-related harm within communities, families, and young people aged 18 and under.
- Projects that aim to educate people and communities about the dangers and consequences of misusing alcohol.
- The development of new, innovative projects designed to reduce alcohol-related harms.
- Pilot projects that will test out new initiatives and ideas designed to promote responsible attitudes to alcohol consumption and prevent alcohol-misuse.
- Projects that promote alternative leisure and lifestyle choices for adults and young people to prevent alcohol-misuse. Further information and guidance is available to download from the Foundation Scotland website or by contacting Sian Langdon by email at Sian@foundationscotland.org.uk. Alternatively you can telephone her on 0141 341 4967.

The deadline for the first round of applications is 31 March 2014 with decisions expected in June 2014.
