

www.wheelofwellbeing.org

The WoW website is a creative starting point for improving well-being that includes a unique collection of crowd-sourced tips, free tools, downloadable resources and a strategic consultancy service.

Why a well-being website?

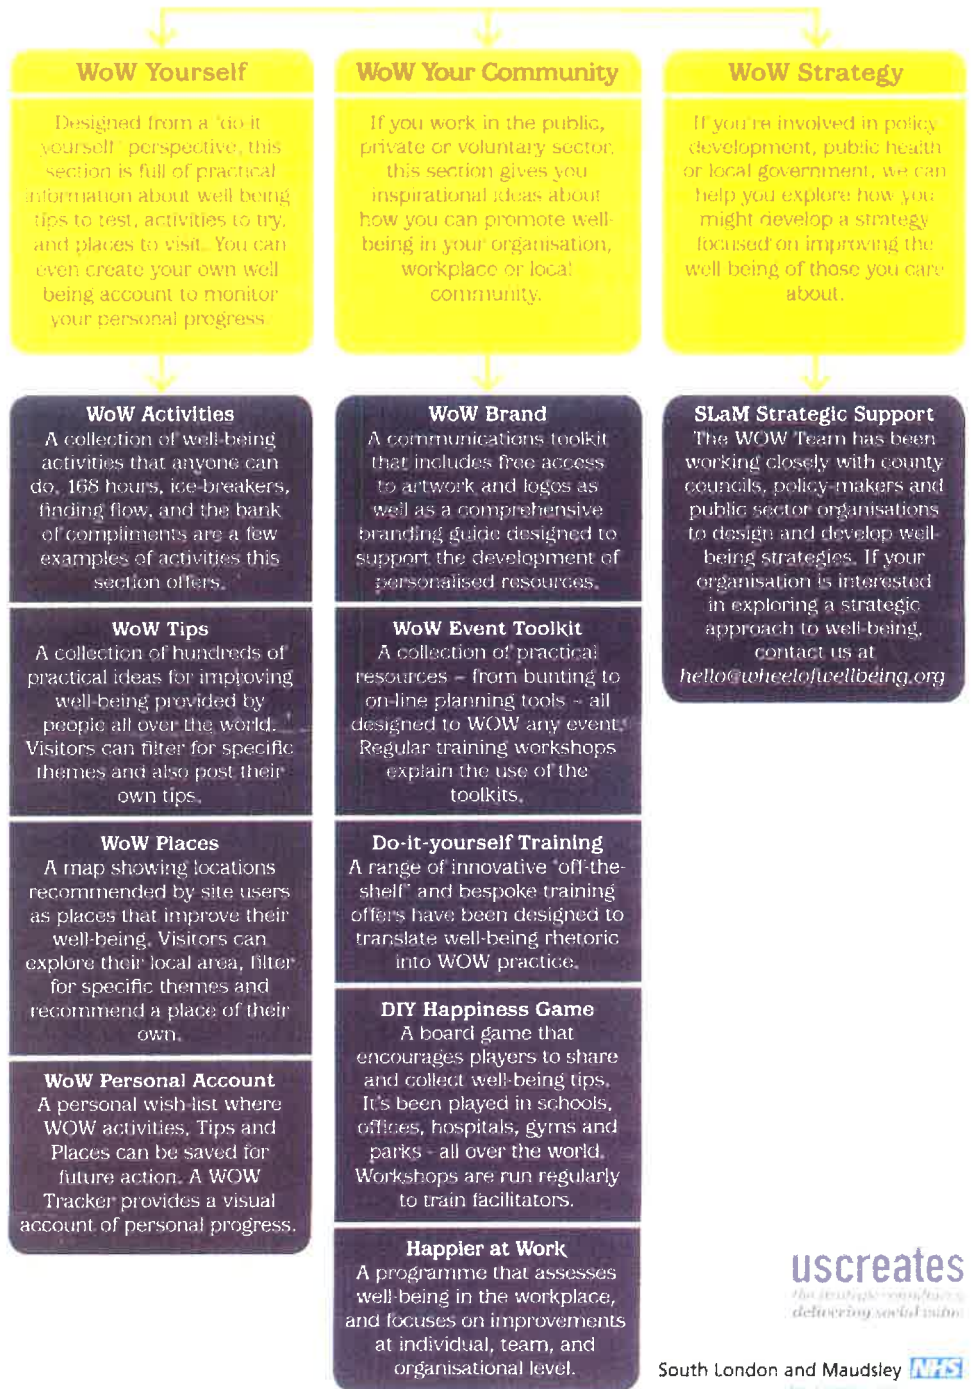

More and more research is showing us how certain actions, activities and practices can improve our moods, reduce the risk of depression, strengthen relationships, keep us healthy and even add seven years to our lives. We think people need to know more about this, so we have designed a website to spread the word.

Where WoW comes from?

The Wheel of Well-being framework is the result of a 6-year design collaboration. The Mental Health Promotion Team at South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust and Uscreates, a strategic consultancy delivering social value, initially came together through Well London and continue to work in partnership today with the support of the Maudsley Charity.

hello@wheelofwellbeing.org

The website offers 3 main functions

uscreates
the strategic communications delivering social value

South London and Maudsley NHS

Wheel of Well-being

keep learning about well-being

recommended resources

We get lots of requests for our references and ‘where to go’ to learn more about well-being so we thought this would be a good way to share our favourite reads, resources and inspiring organisations with you. They’re in no particular order and make the list for no other reason than that we’ve used them and we think they’re great!

Our favourites for reading about well-being

Be excellent at anything: the four keys to transforming the way we work and live

Tony Schwartz, Jean Gomes & Catherine McCarthy, 2011

A really practical approach to managing your energy from four perspectives: physically, emotionally, socially and spiritually – both at work and at home.

The Blue Zones: lessons for living longer from the people who’ve lived the longest

Dan Buettner, 2010

Interesting and informative accounts about where in the world people live the longest, happiest lives...and why.

Change the World for a Fiver: we are what we do

Anon, 2004

Gleever, colourful, environmentally-perfect and created by London’s own ‘wearewhatwedo’ ...full of inspiring and innovative ideas to prompt us all to think globally, act locally and live happier lives

Flourish: A new understanding of happiness and well-being and how to achieve them

Martin E. P. Seligman, 2011

Ten years on from ‘Authentic Happiness’, Seligman’s new work is both a great source of knowledge about the latest in positive psychology – and an inspiring read.

Finding Flow: The psychology of engagement with everyday life

Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi, 1998

An exploration of the art and science behind one of the key ingredients to happiness – and how you can design your life to use your time more positively

Happier: Can you learn to be happy?

Tal Ben-Shahar, 2007

Highly readable, very personal and seriously practical guide by the teacher of Harvard University’s most popular course. Takes self-help to new heights.

Happiness: The thinking person’s guide

Richard O’Connor, 2009

Written by a psychotherapist with a personal experience of depression – a programme for restructuring your life and rewiring your brain. No quick fixes here but it covers all the territory – with lots of practical advice.

Wheel of Well-being

keep learning about well-being

Happiness: Unlocking the mysteries of psychological wealth

Ed Diener and Robert Biswas-Diener, 2008

The world's leading expert on happiness and his son, the 'Indiana Jones' of positive psychology, team up in a practical, science-based guide that covers health, work, relationships, money – and much more.

Happiness: Lessons from a new science

Richard Layard, 2011

Eminent British economist and founder of 'Action for Happiness' looks at the philosophy, economics, psychology and big questions about happiness – and gives us his views.

The How of Happiness: A practical guide to getting the life you want

Sonja Lyubomirsky 2010

A really practical 'how-to' guide to happiness with advice about how to tailor it to your own personality, needs and goals. From the scientist who's done much of the research into 'what really works'.

Mindfulness: A practical guide to finding peace in a frantic world

Mark Williams & Danny Penman, 2011

Great description & explanation of why we're feeling so frazzled – and what we can do about it. A comprehensive 8 week mindfulness programme including CD of programme meditations

Positivity: Discover the groundbreaking science to release your inner optimist and thrive

Barbara Fredrickson, 2010

The most influential positive psychologist in the world explains her research into emotions, why we all should practice more 'positivity' – and how to do it.

No waste like home

Penney Poyzer, 2005

A colourful, money-saving, health-improving, planet-protecting guide to saving the world – starting with your own home

Positive News

<http://www.positivenews.org.uk/>

4 issues per year for a subscription of £15

The world's original and leading positive newspaper. Focusing on solutions, it reports on people and initiatives that are creating a sustainable, just and fulfilling world.

Teach your granny to text and other ways to change the world

We Are What We Do Community Interest Company, 2008

Thirty small things, designed by children, to help change the world...by the same gang who brought us the inspired and inspiring 'Change the world for a fiver'

Wheel of Well-being

keep learning about well-being

Thanks! how the new science of gratitude can make you happier

Robert Emmons, 2007

By the world's leading expert on gratitude, a clear and practical book full of wisdom and inspiration about how to make the world a better place!

Wherever You Go, There You are: Mindfulness Meditation for Everyday Life

Jon Kabat-Zinn, 2004

From the guy who started it all – the Western world's authority on mindful meditation.

our favourite websites to learn about well-being

Happy planet index

<http://www.happyplanetindex.org/>

Random acts of kindness

<http://www.randomactsofkindness.org/> inspirational ideas

We are what we do

<http://wearewhatwedo.org/>

the organisation behind 'teach your granny to text' and 'change the world for a fiver'

The world needs more love letters

<http://www.moreloveletters.com/> just take a look!

our favourite UK organisations for improving well-being

Action for Happiness

<http://www.actionforhappiness.org/>

join your local group – or if you want to really do-it-yourself ...set up your own!

The Reader Organisation

<http://www.thereader.org.uk>

the best way to connect – join a one of their Get into Reading groups - they're sprouting up all over the UK

nef (the new economics foundation)

<http://www.neweconomics.org>

think-tank doing loads of inspirational work on well-being

Shinetime

<http://shinetime.co.uk/>

making us laugh since 2005

Wheel of Well-being

keep learning about well-being

uscreates

<http://www.uscreates.com/>

our brilliant wheel of well-being design team & social change experts

The Young Foundation

<http://youngfoundation.org/>

think-tank doing great work using the wheel of well-being as part of 'the U' project

our favourite places to learn about well-being

Action for Happiness

<http://www.actionforhappiness.org/>

sign up quick – they run regular events with great speakers in London

Authentic Happiness

<http://www.authentichappiness.sas.upenn.edu>

Martin Seligman's homepage is a feast of positive psychology

The Happiness Formula

http://news.bbc.co.uk/1/hi/programmes/happiness_formula/default.stm

the BBC's TV series still makes very useful viewing

Centre for Confidence and Well-being

<http://www.centreforconfidence.co.uk/>

Glasgow-based source for excellent info and resources on all aspects of well-being the energy project

<http://www.theenergyproject.com/>

especially great if you're interested in well-being at work

Positive Psychology Centre

<http://www.ppc.sas.upenn.edu/>

the university of pennsylvania leads the world – and the info here proves it!

TED studies: Understanding happiness

<http://eu.wiley.com/WileyCDA/Section/id-814228.html>

a great on-line series of TED talks and supporting study materials

The School of Life

<http://www.theschooloflife.com/>

short courses and Sunday sermons that inspire Londoners

University of East London

<http://www.uel.ac.uk/postgraduate/specs/positivepsychology/>

Masters in Applied Positive Psychology

Wheel of Well-being is owned by South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust (SLaM) and is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial Share-Alike 4.0 International License. Information on this license is available at www.creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/4.0. Adaptations need to follow brand guidelines available at www.wheelofwellbeing.org/brand and be signed off by SLaM. For permissions beyond the scope of this license contact hello@wheelofwellbeing.org.