This year we are looking to share stories, memories and photos with grandparents as part of our campaign to challenge stereotypes and ageism. So please send us photos with/of your grandparents with a short story about their life or how they have helped/supported you. It doesn't need to be only biological grandparents, it can be anyone who has played a role as a grandparent in your life including from intergenerational projects. You can send the photos and stories to our fb messenger or e-mail our communications intern Kate at kate@generationsworkingtogether.org

Isolation & Loneliness

The Scottish Government has committed to producing a National Strategy to tackle social Isolation and loneliness (Scottish Government) – a draft strategy consultation is due out after the summer.

Tools for measuring isolation and loneliness

Alison mentioned a toolkit that projects can use to measure the impact their projects have on reducing isolation and loneliness. There are four scales to choose from including both positive and negative wording. The Befriending project has used one of the loneliness measurement scales however the questions didn't really work for them. The Rickter scale could also be used in conjunction with the loneliness measurement tool.

Case Study spotlight – Working together: Black Isle Cares, Highland Senior Citizens Network, Fortrose Academy, Highlife Highland and more

Alistair described how Fortrose Academy pupils undertook the Youth Philanthropic Initiative and chose Black Isle Cares as the winners which meant that the funding available through the initiative went into this charity and pupils worked together with Black Isle Cares in intergenerational activities. These include meals on wheels, which a number of the pupils take part in and provided positive feedback of their experience.

Fran got involved as a participant and goes to sessions with Fortrose Academy pupils where she learns about using modern technology such as ipads. She loves it and says many other participants have such a positive response to the students.

Among other benefits, students involved in these projects benefit from having skills to add to their CV, working towards Saltire Awards and other national awards.

Wanda brought a big display board which showed many pictures of these initiatives in action and allowed the group to see some of the things that have been going on.

Sharing IG stories and projects – round the table

Wanda updated and a highly successful rowing initiative she is leading in Cromarty. Older and younger generations are learning to row and going out on the water, with over 100 adult rowers, and 50 young people. Wanda highlighted the benefit this has on loneliness and heart health. The initiative in Cromarty has contributed towards outcomes such as building relationships and sharing of stories across generations. The initiative is very inclusive; the oldest member so far is 79 years old, and Wanda is currently welcoming three new members who are blind. A similar scheme runs in Avoch and Avoch Youth Coach has been instrumental in helping set up the scheme in Cromarty.

There is a men's shed starting in Munloch.

The group highlighted the need for pupils teaching tech skills to older generation to learn how to teach with patience. Pupils can be prepared for this with some prior training activities.

Discussion moved on to the idea of having a community hub for people to find out what is going on. It was also raised that it can be a struggle to reach lonely and isolated people who are on their own.
