

CELEBRATING FIFTY YEARS / ENRICHING LIVES THROUGH THE ARTS

In preparation of a symposium on the subject of intergenerational learning activities, The Arts Society, which celebrates its 50th anniversary this year, is looking for case studies, evaluation reports and any evidence-based reports on projects and programmes involving two or more generations learning together, and with and from each other. Projects and programmes should be related to the arts or heritage and may include subjects as broad as fine arts, theatre, dance, cinema, crafts and heritage. We'd like to hear about projects that are either in progress or completed.

We are also looking for contributors to the symposium and welcome expressions of interest from speakers who may wish to present their work.

Please send your information to symposium@theartsociety.org

The Intergenerational Learning Symposium will be held on 29 November 2018 at the Wellcome Collection, organised by The Arts Society.

The Arts Society (previously NADFAS) is a leading arts education charity with a global network of 385 local Societies, which bring people together through a shared curiosity for the arts. Our events provide welcoming places - locally, nationally and globally - everyone to hear expert lecturers share their specialist knowledge about the arts.

With 90,000+ members who contribute to and preserve our artistic heritage through volunteering and grants. The Arts Society works to create a better, healthier and more connected society. www.theartsociety.org
