The trustees are pleased to present their report and financial statements together with the independent examiner's report for the year ended 31 March 2021.

OBJECTS & ACTIVITIES

The organisation's purposes are:

- a) The promotion of intergenerational relationships to further the relief of those in need by reason of age, health, disability or other disadvantage.
- b) The promotion of equality and diversity.
- c) The advancement of citizenship and community development.

These three objectives are the primary purposes of the charity however, it is hoped that through these activities that Generations Working Together will also be able to report on the advancement of education, health and wellbeing.

ACHIEVEMENTS & PERFORMANCE

The year 2020/21 has seen Scotland and other countries across the world face many difficult and heart-breaking challenges. Due to the charity's existing set up, GWT was able to adapt very quickly to COVID-19 supporting colleagues and members to build knowledge and confidence in maintaining and creating intergenerational relationships. Understandably intergenerational projects and activities ground to an immediate halt as a consequence of the need for physical distancing, however it was quickly recognised that these friendships were critical in keeping people connected and this generated both challenge and opportunity for GWT.

GWT secured additional emergency funding from the Scottish Government and became a team of 10 staff who were able to; provide support and training to our membership of over 3600 individuals and organisations. As a result, staff were able to create two directories of ideas and resources, a guide to connecting safely online, 5 free short online training courses, adapt local network meetings to online events and provide one to one support specifically aimed at staff working in the 817 care homes across Scotland. This was a significant body of work, delivered in a difficult context as the organisation had to pivot to home and online working, with the associated changes to practices and need to develop new skills.

Scotland has again seen a rise in interest in building relationships between the generations with network meetings and membership numbers growing significantly. GWT continued to deliver online training, host network webinars and seminar workshops, and became involved in research and innovation work along with advocacy work within Scotland, the UK and other parts of the world.

GWT's Corporate Plan was launched in the spring of 2020 providing clear direction to the organisations' work and communicating this clearly to external audiences. Even in such challenging times our strategic aims remained relevant and robust with the charity being fully committed to making our own contribution to the national recovery process. To do this we planned to work creatively and flexibly with partners and colleagues to do what was and is required.

Influencing Policy

Our Manifesto for an Intergenerational Scotland was launched as part of our commitment to influencing national and local policy. The Manifesto was shared with all political parties ahead of the 2021 Scottish elections and used to influence a range of other public, private and third sector bodies which are active and influential in Scottish civic life. Post-election, we are now working with public, private and third sector agencies to see the ambitions set out in that manifesto become reality in Scotland.

Representation – Trustees and staff continued to represent GWT at national and local conferences, meetings and events including: Age and Disability Policy Circle, Cross Party Groups (Ageing & Older People/Volunteering), Older People's Strategic Action Framework Group, National Implementation Group on Social Isolation and Loneliness, Scottish Older People's Assembly, Social Renewable Advisory Board and Volunteering 19.

Research Collaboration - GWT continues to strengthen partnerships with Universities and Colleges across Scotland, England, Spain, Australia and America. GWT is an active partner in the new Connectivity and Digital Design for Health & Well-Being across Generations, Places and Spaces, research programme with the University of Stirling and University of Plymouth. There remains a further need to strengthen the research base for intergenerational practice especially in Scotland and we continue to explore ways to achieve this. A new research network has been created to host conversations around research collaboration, sharing learning and experience and encouraging development around areas of identified need.

Increasing Participation in Intergenerational Practice

Local networks - GWT continued to support 18 local intergenerational networks with a total of 58 network meetings held during the year. There were 698 attendees, an average of 12 per meeting. This result includes 11 additional network meetings on last year's figures seeing an increase of 119 attendees. An additional three thematic networks have been created during 2021 to host conversations around ageism, intergenerational housing, spaces and places and research. The pivot to online networking brought some successes and challenges and we are now working to embed the successful elements in our core practice as the nation moves beyond the pandemic and into recovery.

Supporting and Promoting Practice

GWT's conference became virtual and was held week commencing 8th March 2021, with 130 delegates in attendance. The Minister for Children and Young People, Maree Todd provided the opening address. The conference was held over 3 days with online webinars held each morning and afternoon. The information presented offered opportunities for delegates to increase their understanding and knowledge in the field of intergenerational practice and its application across community and policy contexts which included conversations on housing, spaces and places, building capacity, faith communities, ageism, food and recycling, research and innovation. Delivering this important national conference online was a significant challenge for GWT and we are delighted with the event's delivery, reach and impact.

GWT took leadership of the National Intergenerational Week from St Monica Trust. The campaign ran from 8-14 March 2021. To deliver the campaign on a four nations basis GWT created a strong UK partnership with Linking Generations Northern Ireland, The Cares Family (England) and Bridging the Generations (Wales). 284 organisations pledged their support and participation. The campaign received 324,357 views on social media. 9,592 people shared views on social media. Our objectives involved coordinating a national conversation around intergenerational connections, sharing and showcasing current projects, engaging with partners, signposting, sharing ideas and resources and giving people the space to network and be creative. Overall, the campaign was successful and the work done by GWT in leading and coordinating has created a strong platform for delivery in 2022.

GWT's Annual Excellence Awards were adapted as a result of the pandemic with revised categories recognising outstanding and innovative intergenerational practice across Scotland. We reached out virtually to the winners using a bespoke creative film partner and presented the awards online at the conference by means of interviews and films. A total of 62 nominations to the four categories were received, a small increase on previous years. The Awards were chosen to fit with the country's state of alert and inability to host face to face sessions during the pandemic. They aligned with key policy agendas including increasing educational attainment, reducing social isolation, tackling ageism and encouraging inclusion and capacity building. In addition to recognising practice, the awards highlight the contribution which intergenerational work is making to Scotland's recovery and encourage others to adopt the practice. Special recognition awards were presented to staff from five care homes across Scotland who had shown an outstanding contribution and dedication towards keeping their residents socially connected with younger generations during the pandemic.

International Connections – Online working during the pandemic provided more opportunities for staff within GWT to further develop close working relations with International partners including the University of Granada (Spain), Penn State University and Intergenerational Schools, Generations United, The Eisner Foundation (USA), Linking Generations Northern Ireland, University of Queensland, Griffith University (Australia), Torbay Council, Beth Johnson Foundation and Apples & Honey Nightingale (England). These partnerships enabled staff to share what was happening across the field of intergenerational work world-wide, learning from each other, sharing resources and firefighting together. These relationships are now much stronger and will continue to flourish.

Supporting Innovation – Now in year three of a 4-year partnership, GWT continued to work with the Soil Association in delivering Food for Life Get Togethers. The project seeks to use food to connect different generations. GWT provided training to practitioners to ensure best practice in developing and delivering intergenerational programmes.

We designed, produced, and delivered online training, delivering two sessions to organisations from across the UK. The Food for Life Get Together resources have been useful to share with GWT's networks across Scotland and encourage people to think about good food, recipes, and ideas on how to grow food and connect with others through cooking, gardening, eating and composting.

Reducing isolation and loneliness work - Thanks to emergency funding GWT were able to produce two directories sharing ideas and resources for intergenerational connection, a safety guide for undertaking intergenerational work online, new online activities, five free introductory training modules (receiving over 200 registrations) on what intergenerational work is, how to plan a project, how to measure the impact, reducing ageism via intergenerational connections and an introduction to intergenerational housing and sharing places and spaces. GWT provided training to projects receiving funding through Connected Scotland, provided some IT equipment for care homes and dementia groups, partnered with Bertha Park High School to create an intergenerational radio station and run a care home project providing one to one support and training to care home staff. GWT contacted over 700 care homes over the 10 months funding period.

It was a challenging start to our care home project as the pandemic was raging through care settings, and staff who did not know GWT were worried about potential backlash and negative press. Of the 712 care homes we reached out to and engaged with 492 (69%). We found that while only 2% of care home staff had received training in intergenerational planning, over 76% of care homes were engaging in intergenerational activity before the pandemic – most of these were self-funded by the care home, with only 6% of intergenerational activity receiving funding. We asked what the main challenges were that they faced in carrying out intergenerational activity. The pandemic came top, followed in order by staffing, inconsistency, residents' ability to engage, funding, transport, and time. The information gathered through these contacts is enabling GWT to plan for future support and development work with colleagues in the care sector.

Increasing Knowledge and Understanding

Introductory Training - GWT delivered five Intergenerational Training Courses for Trainers and Practitioners (CPD accredited) in Tayside & Borders, Highlands & Islands, West Coast Scotland, Open across Scotland, and with Morgan Sindall. They were attended by 97 trainees, who all reported positively on their experience and learning. This is an increase of 17% from the previous year, or an additional 14 trainees.

Good Food and Intergenerational Practice Training – GWT delivered two full day training session covering intergenerational work and cooking, eating, growing or sharing food across generations. These sessions were attended by 42 trainees, who reported feeling positive about the experience and learning more about intergenerational practice.

Online Learning - GWT delivered two International Diploma in Intergenerational Learning courses in partnership with the University of Granada. In total 45 students from eight countries successfully completed this online programme, an increase of 29% from the previous year. 39% of students were Scottish. The course is having a very positive impact for Scottish students. As a direct result of the course one of our students recently delivered intergenerational training to 22 early years practitioners within her organisation encouraging and enabling them to fully develop their own planned intergenerational programmes for post Covid.

In partnership with Age Scotland, GWT developed a workplace training course which both organisations can deliver. GWT delivered the first two bookings from a private building company and has received interest however Covid has put a bit of a delay in this work. In 2021 however enquires are increasing from organisations such as Morgan Sindall and the Cattanach Trusts requesting bespoke training to be designed and delivered for their organisation. This is an important aspect of our work for development and implementation in the coming years and in light of the workforce changes that are likely to result from the pandemic.

Partnership Working - GWT worked with closely with Ability Net to ensure that our network had access to any support whilst using online means of communication. Ability Net offered support at GWT annual conference for anyone requiring this. We worked with SCVO Digital Connecting Scotland – supporting people in Scotland get online as being online became an essential lifeline for many or our network members and our communities. In doing this we hosted an online session in partnership with Connected Scotland with over 60 people participating, our work with Volunteer Glasgow and Volunteer Scotland looked at ways of identifying how both organisations could support development in intergenerational projects for people across Scotland.

Other partnerships that GWT has continued over the year include St Monica's Trust, Jo Cox Foundation, The Cares Family Group, Guild Housing, Verizon. Following on from our work with Verizon and building the database through Tableau which enabled us to record information on IG work in Scotland from organisations such as care homes, projects and local network meetings, providing us vital data regarding existing and future intergenerational work across Scotland. These organisations provided staff support to research a new digital online safety guide and help access and build an intergenerational database.

Education pilots – GWT completed the third year of the education project based in Perth and successfully secured funding from the Gannochy Trust for a further three-year project involving schools in the Perth & Kinross Area. Funding was also secured to create an intergenerational project in the new Jedburgh Intergenerational Community campus based in Jedburgh, Scottish Borders.

A numeracy-focussed project with Jedburgh Campus, "Together is Better", has 10 volunteers in place, with PVG checks complete however there has been a delay to the starting of the project as it is moving to an online platform due to the pandemic.

Work with Play Scotland on producing an Intergenerational pilot around play and storytelling is in progress during the summer months of 2021.

Consultancy Based Work - GWT formed new partnerships with Knightswood Community Centre through Community Enterprise in Scotland (CEIS) and are actively involved in consultancy process on the design of a new intergenerational shared space at Knightswood Swimming pool. The work consultancy work began in 2021 and amounts to 6 days work. GWT plans to look at more consultancy work going forward. This contracted work reflects well on GWT and its growing reputation as the national expert agency for IG work in Scotland. It also points towards an aspect of our work that can be developed in the coming years, ensuring that new initiatives in IG practice are well designed and helping to diversify our funding base and make us a more sustainable organisation.

Governance

In addition to launching the new corporate plan GWT has continued to strengthen its Governance and has been active in a number of areas:

The Board - GWT has progressed in diversifying the board improving the age, gender, ethnic and skills balance and will continue during 2021-22 to work towards this goal, by recruiting new trustees and planning for succession.

Planning – The Corporate Plan for 2020 - 25, seeks to set direction for the next five years providing a framework for review, evaluation and reporting. This public document will increase the organisations' accountability to members and other stakeholders. Plans are in motion to create a framework for evaluation and reporting covering the next three years with an external partner.

Finance - Staff and Trustees have worked hard to bring greater financial stability and sustainability to the organisation with the successful bid to the Equality and Human Rights fund (Scottish Government) being announced in August 2021. The fund provides core funds for 4 full time and one part time members of staff. Greater efforts have been made to secure grant funding from other sources including charitable foundations, local authorities, private businesses and NGO's with success. The fact that GWT is not a "direct delivery" organisation still makes the securing of charitable funding challenging and we recognise the continued need to think outside the box and improve both our strategy and performance in this aspect of our work.

Policy - GWT continues to review and update policies to take account of legislative and environmental changes.

Risk Management – GWT has strengthened our approach to risk and risk management with regular updates being considered and implemented to the risk register.

In conclusion, the past year has been the most challenging in GWT's history, but we have continued to function effectively through-out the pandemic. We had to make many changes to the ways in which we engaged with members, partners and stakeholders but we think we have adapted well and emerged stronger from the pandemic. Moving forward, our challenge is to use the new practices, information, networks and partnerships we have developed to assist us in achieving our strategic aims and delivering a stronger and more equal intergenerational Scotland.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

This year saw an encouraging increase in the charity's income from £174,598 in the previous year to £311,096 in this financial year. This was due to a number of factors and in particular increase of grant income administered by the Scottish Government. This increase has also meant a change in the way that the accounts are formatted and these accounts use the accruals method for calculations and presentation.

The expenditure within this year has also increased to £269,801 (2020:£147,857) with the majority of this being salaries and purchase of digital equipment and services to enable the charity to be able to continue the delivery of its services during the pandemic. Equipment was also purchased for intergenerational projects with this equipment being given to partner organisations.

Donated facilities and services

As a result of the pandemic some of GWT's volunteer opportunities have had to stop due to lockdown and to social distancing. It has been a challenging time however GWT would like to thank all our volunteers who have continued to support the charity in other ways. GWT look forward to restarting projects and getting back to face-to-face meetings during the autumn and winter months involving our band of very dedicated volunteers.

Over the past year and a half Trustee volunteers have donated more of their time and energy in supporting funding bids and attending extra meetings to support staff and projects during the pandemic. Over 300 hours have been donated giving a saving to GWT of approximately £2,700.

Principal risks

The trustees regularly review the risk, including the health and safety of its employees and volunteers, to which the charity is exposed. They do not believe there are any substantial risks beyond the liabilities disclosed in the Balance Sheet.

Reserves policy

At 31st March 2021, the unrestricted reserves of the Charity stood at £87,646 (2020: £63,015)

The operational work of Generations Working Together is now costing approximately £19,156 per month and may well rise in the year ahead. The trustees consider that 3 to 6 months of unrestricted funds is an appropriate level to allow the operational work of the charity to continue without disruption. The unrestricted reserves meet the lower end of the trustees limit circa 4.5 months.

FUTURE PLANS

Over the next five years GWT will strive to work towards achieving our strategic aims enabling Scotland to become an intergenerational nation, influencing national and local policy in favour of intergenerational practice, promoting and supporting innovation, increasing participation and ensuring sound governance of the charity going forward.

INDEPENDENT EXAMINER'S REPORT

Independent examiner's report to the trustees of Generations Working Together

I report on the accounts of the charity for the year ended 31 March 2021, which are set out on pages 11 to 21.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the terms of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 ("the 2005 Act") and the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended) ("the 2006 Regulations"). The trustees consider that the audit requirement of Regulation (10)(1)(a)-(c) of the 2006 Regulations does not apply.

It is my responsibility to examine the accounts under section (44)(1)(c) of the 2005 Act and to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent examiner's statement

My examination is carried out in accordance with Regulation 11 of the 2006 Regulations. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeks explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently I do not express an audit opinion on the view given by the accounts.

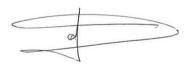

Independent examiner's statement

In connection with my examination, no matter came to my attention:-

- 1. which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in any material respect, the requirements
 - to keep accounting records in accordance with section 44(1)(a) of the 2005 Act and Regulation 4 of the 2006 Regulations, and
 - to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with Regulation 8 of the 2006 Regulations have not been met, or

2. to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

1. Basis of preparation

- 1.1. These accounts (financial statements) have been prepared under the historic cost convention, with items recognised at cost or transaction value, unless otherwise stated in the relevant note(s), in accordance with:
 - (a) The Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005
 - (b) The Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended)
 - (c) The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102)
 - (d) Charities SORP (FRS 102) Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective 01 January 2015)

This is a change of accounting policy as compared to the previous period - see note

As Generations Working Together is a "small charity" within the SORP definition (under £500,000 income) the Trustees have opted to make use of the simplifications permitted by SORP 2015 FRS 102 for smaller charities. In particular, the allocation of income and expenditure on the Statement of Financial Activities has been adapted to the Charity's circumstances, rather than following the functional classification specified in the current SORP.

1.2. These accounts have been prepared in sterling, which is the functional currency of the charity. Monetary amounts are rounded to the nearest £1.

1.3. Changes since Prior Year and use of Prior Year Figures

The year 2020/21 is the first year in which Generations Working Together has presented its accounts on the accruals basis in accordance with the SORP – the previous financial statements were prepared on the receipts and payments (R&P) basis as permitted by the 2006 Regulations for a charity of this size. However, the charity has increased in income to over £250,000 and thus have to apply the above accounting policies.

Adjustments have been made to allow for the more significant debtors and creditors at 31st March 2020, however, this may not be sufficient to make the prior year income and expenditure figures fully comparable with those for the current year.

- 1.4. For the purposes of FRS 102, the charity is a public benefit entity and accounting policies are applied accordingly. However, the trustees do not consider that these accounts depend on any material estimates of judgements except where specifically noted. The Charity has only basic financial instruments
- 1.5. Going concern. The trustees have reviewed the financial position of the Charity and are satisfied that it has sufficient resources to continue for at least 12 months beyond the date of approval of these accounts. The accounts are thus prepared on a going concern basis.

2. Accounting policies

2.1. Fund accounting

- (a) Unrestricted funds are those that can be expended at the discretion of the trustees in the furtherance of the objects of the charity.
- (b) Restricted funds are those that may only be used for specific purposes. Restrictions arise when specified by the donor, or when funds are raised for specific purposes.
- (c) The purposes of the funds are shown in Note 15.

2.2 Income

Income is recognised and included in the Statement of Financial Activities (SoFA) when the charity becomes entitled to the income; receipt is probable; and the monetary value can be measured with sufficient reliability. The specific bases used are as follows:

- (a) Donations and legacy income is received by way of grants, donations, legacies, sponsorship and gift is included in full in the Statement of Financial Activities when the charitable company becomes entitled to the funds, it is probable that the income will be received and the amount can be measured reliably.
- (b) Income for charitable trading activities is related to performance and specific deliverables and is accounted for as the charity earns the right to consideration by its performance. It also includes grant funding income which is recognised on an accruals basis when the income can be measured and it is probable that the charity will receive the income.
- (c) Bank interest is recognised when credited to the account.
- (d) Where income has related expenditure (e.g. fundraising), the income and related expenditure are reported gross in the SoFA.
- (e) Income, which is subject to conditions that the charity has yet to fulfil, or which is specifically for use in a future accounting period, is treated as deferred income.
- (f) The value of voluntary help is not included in the accounts but is described in the trustees' annual report.

2.3. Expenditure and liabilities

Liabilities are recognised when it is probable that there is a legal or constructive obligation committing the charity to pay out resources and the monetary value can be measured with sufficient reliability. The specific bases used are as follows:

- (a) Expenditure is recognised on the accruals basis.
- (b) The charity is not registered for VAT, thus all costs are shown inclusive of VAT charged.
- (c) Governance costs include the costs of preparation and examination of the statutory accounts, the cost of trustee meetings and the cost of any legal advice to trustees on governance or constitutional matters.

2.4. Tangible assets

- (a) Tangible assets are capitalised if they can be used for more than one year, and cost at least £500 They are valued at cost or, if gifted, at their value on receipt.
- (b) Depreciation is calculated to write off the cost of tangible fixed assets over their useful economic lives. The rates used are as follows:
 - (i) Computer equipment 33.3% Straight line

2.5. Debtors

- (a) Debtors are recognised at the settlement amount due.
- (b) Prepayments are valued at the amount prepaid.

2.6. Cash

(a) Cash includes cash in hand and bank balances repayable on demand.
