

Generations
Working Together

Membership Categories Definitions, Prices & Benefits

Scotland Individual

2 Oct 2023

Scotland Membership	Individuals living in Scotland	FREE
Membership Benefits
Individuals in paid work/self-employed as sole trader – discounted fees for online training modules – 50% reduction @ £10/module, total £50 for 5 modules Individual concessions (student 16 years and above; young person 16-17 years not in education, training or work; unemployed 18 years and above; volunteer - individual; retired 66 years and above) - discounted online training modules - 75% reduction @ £5/module, total £25 for 5 modules All individuals Monthly e-news – get latest updates on training, events, resources and new developments Training courses, online and face-to-face, including International Certificate in Intergenerational Practice - CPD accreditation and discounted fees National and international conferences, and other events – be the first to know, get priority booking and discounted fees Networks – join your local network, 18 local networks throughout Scotland, and 4 thematic networks (on ageism; care homes; research; housing, places and spaces) – share info and learning about best practice, make community connections and develop new partnerships - on average, local networks meet face-to-face twice yearly with an online annual national (Scottish) meeting, thematic networks meet online 3 times a year
Expert guidance and support – via network meetings, monthly online clinics and 1 to 1 advice and support Resources, tools and publications – download for free Paper copies of key resources - at cost plus P & P Access to exclusive content on website – access to more resources, training materials, case studies from Scotland and further afield, webinar recordings Global Intergenerational Week – participate in a global campaign, exchanging activity, learning and impact Future GWT plans and strategies – have your say Annual general meetings – voting rights Board of Trustees – seek nomination for position via your local or thematic network (volunteer role)

Do our members here
chime with you?

Scotland Individual

As a volunteer, you have a unique opportunity to make a difference in the lives of people from all generations. By joining Generations Working Together, you'll become part of a community of like-minded individuals who share your passion for intergenerational practice.

Our organisation is dedicated to advancing intergenerational work and connecting people from around the world who want to make a positive impact. With your membership, you'll have access to a wealth of resources, including online training, events, and publications, as well as opportunities to connect with other volunteers and organisations. Whether you're looking to deepen your understanding of intergenerational practice or to take your volunteer work to the next level, Generations Working Together has everything you need to succeed. Sign up today and join us in building a brighter future for all generations.

Wei
Academic and Intergenerational Practitioner
Scotland

Wei, by background, is an academic and intergenerational practitioner. He taught engineering at a large Chinese university after obtaining his PhD in England. On retiring in 2019, he moved to central east Scotland to be closer to his son and grandchildren.

He observed barriers between generations. He has long been interested in bringing younger and older people together, and joined Generations Working Together in 2021. He believes meeting with another generation, building friendship and having fun, breaks down barriers to communication, and tackles ageism and stereotyping.

He observed some young people at the local high school applying age-discriminatory stereotypes to others, and he wanted to work this out together. For the past year, he has been working as a volunteer with a youth group at the school. The group started from playing Chinese music to go on to increase their understanding of cultural difference.

Moira
Teacher
Edinburgh

Moira, 52, was a teacher in Edinburgh. She has always been passionate about education and making a difference in the lives of others.

She became interested in intergenerational practice a year or two ago after attending a workshop on the topic and learning about its many benefits. Now, not long retired, Moira is eager to stay informed about developments in the field, and to continue to learn and grow. She enjoys reading books and articles on intergenerational practice, and attending local events on the topic. She is looking for ways to get more involved in her community and to give back in meaningful ways.

By joining Generations Working Together, Moira hopes to deepen her knowledge of intergenerational practice and connect with others who share her interests.